Located Graves of Soldiers and Patriots of the American Revolution

Locating graves of Revolutionary Soldiers was started by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution in 1897-98. During the first year 32 graves were reported. This task is continued yearly through reports compiled by each State Historian and submitted to National Headquarters. Previous Lists were printed in the annual Smithsonian Report which has been discontinued. (Check Price List from Office of Corresponding Secretary General for availability.) A card file of these located graves is maintained in the Office of the Historian General; however, no further information is available on an individual soldier from this office.

Between March 1, 1980 and March 1, 1981 NSDAR located 100 graves in 17 States. Data on those graves are provided in the following tabulation:

LOCATED GRAVES

of Revolutionary Soldiers and Patriots

As reported to the Office of the Historian General. This alphabetical list will be continued in subsequent issues.

Locating graves of Revolutionary Soldiers was started by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution in 1897-98. During the first year 32 graves were reported. This task is continued yearly through reports compiled by each State Historian and submitted to National Headquarters. Previous Lists were printed in the annual Smithsonian Report which has been discontinued. A card file of these located graves is maintained in the Office of the Historian General.

Between March 1, 1981 and March 3, 1982 NSDAR located 110 graves in 16 States. Data on those graves are provided in the following tabulation:

LOCATED GRAVES

As reported to the Office of the Historian General. This alphabetical list will be continued in subsequent issues.

Locating graves of Revolutionary Soldiers was started by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution in 1897-98. During the first year 32 graves were reported. This task is continued yearly through reports compiled by each State Historian and submitted to National Headquarters. Previous Lists were printed in the annual Smithsonian Report which has been discontinued. A card file of these located graves is maintained in the Office of the Historian General.

Between March 1, 1982 and March 3, 1983 NSDAR located 363 graves in 17 States. Data on those graves are provided in the following tabulation:

LOCATED GRAVES

As reported to the Office of the Historian General

Locating graves of Revolutionary Soldiers was started by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution in 1897–98. A card file of these located graves is maintained in the Office of the Historian General. During the first year 32 graves were reported. This task is continued yearly through reports compiled by each State Historian and submitted to National Headquarters. This alphabetical list will be continued in subsequent issues.

Between March 1, 1985 and March 3, 1986 NSDAR located 48 graves in 14 states. Data on those graves are provided in the following tabulation.
